Pricedex® Professional Services

Deploying a Product Information Management System within a Master Data Management strategy can be a transformative experience for a company. There are many 'moving parts' within an organization, which contribute to the total picture, and the effort to assemble all these elements may feel insurmountable.

Let Pricedex® assist you in preparing your project. Our Subject Matter Experts have deep backgrounds in industrial and manufacturing operations, and extensive knowledge and experience with product-related business processes. Our consulting practice will tailor your assignment to your specific needs.
